Yes, we shall be delighted to dine tomorrow Saturday. But we stay on another week so we may hope to meet later.

I'm amazed at the cheapness of the book (are -) thought it would be more.

I've added a

if you object,

little for your share in design.

I'll never ask you to do a job again.

Here's the first, premature review

Flush.

I've just had this from Raymond. which I shd in case you're not heard.

Look dinner on Wednesday unless it strikes you that there is something unutterably repulsive about it. before that.

We have just heard that Leonard's Sister died yesterday. He has to go to the funeral on Sunday in London. So could you come on Monday instead.

Thank I shall go up. though not to the funeral. I shall report you on Monday unless I hear.

Monks. Thursday.

May thanks. Good Dolphin, for your information. I have written to Mabel, also to Ha, to find out about her looking. We rather incline now to have a keeper in, as the room is there, which is probably cheaper. But I will see Mabel, as it would certainly be an advantage to have some one used to our habits. Nelly continues to bombard me, through her sister. I foresee that she'll visit on another interview. Our final day was an incredible misery. Nothing would make me go through it again. I wonder if you've heard of it from Lottie.

We go up on Tuesday next. Is there any chance of seeing you apart from the general mob? Maynard has rung up. I gather that there's been a muddle about the reading. I suppose you couldn't bring Angelica to tea on Monday?

 We go to Ireland for a fortnight at the end of the month, so I shan't see you for an age. Not that you mind.

However you were very considerate about the Harknesses - that I will say. Lord, what a mercy this to feel, I'm not poor & old belly brooding over me! - Except that the will of some insist on more rows.

What about my picture? Shall I write & tell them to deliver it?
 The post has just sent this.
